Disclaimer & Limitation of Liability

This Disclaimer & Limitation of Liability applies to all SafeChemEdu products, services, training programs, publications, implementation resources, facilitator materials, websites, downloads, learning management systems, assessments, templates, tools, and associated content.

By accessing, purchasing, downloading, enrolling in, or using any SafeChemEdu materials or services, you acknowledge and agree to the terms of this Disclaimer.

1. Educational Purpose

SafeChemEdu provides educational, training, and professional development resources designed to support learning and workplace capability development.

All materials are provided for informational and educational purposes only.

SafeChemEdu does not warrant that completion of any course, use of any resource, or implementation of any recommendation will achieve compliance, certification, accreditation, regulatory approval, or any particular business outcome.

2. No Professional Advice

SafeChemEdu materials do not constitute:

- Legal advice
- Regulatory advice
- Engineering advice
- Occupational hygiene advice
- Toxicological advice
- Environmental consulting advice
- Workplace health and safety consulting advice
- Medical advice
- Professional auditing services
- Professional certification services
- Professional compliance assessments

Users should obtain independent professional advice from appropriately qualified practitioners where required.

3. Workplace Compliance Responsibility

Compliance with workplace, environmental, chemical management, health and safety, transport, waste management, and regulatory obligations remains the sole responsibility of the employer, organisation, duty holder, manager, supervisor, contractor, or individual responsible for those activities.

SafeChemEdu does not assume responsibility for:

- Legislative compliance
- Regulatory compliance
- Permit compliance
- Licence conditions
- Workplace procedures
- Site-specific hazards
- Risk assessments
- Chemical management systems
- Emergency response arrangements

Users must independently verify all information against applicable laws, regulations, standards, codes of practice, permits, licences, and workplace requirements.

4. No Guarantee of Compliance

Completion of a SafeChemEdu course, training program, assessment, implementation activity, or audit exercise does not guarantee:

- Legal compliance
- Regulatory compliance
- Certification
- Accreditation
- Audit success
- Workplace safety outcomes
- Environmental performance
- Risk reduction
- Regulatory approval

Compliance outcomes depend upon many factors beyond the control of SafeChemEdu.

5. Site-Specific Conditions

Workplaces, facilities, operations, chemicals, processes, hazards, equipment, and regulatory requirements vary significantly between organisations and jurisdictions.

SafeChemEdu materials are general in nature and may not address all circumstances relevant to a particular workplace or activity.

Users remain responsible for determining suitability and applicability to their own circumstances.

6. Use of Templates, Forms, Registers and Tools

Templates, forms, registers, checklists, spreadsheets, implementation guides, audit tools, and other resources are provided as examples and starting points only.

Users must review, verify, customise, and validate all materials before operational use.

SafeChemEdu accepts no responsibility for reliance upon unmodified templates or implementation resources.

7. Auditing and Assessment Resources

Audit tools, inspection checklists, assessment guides, governance frameworks, and compliance resources supplied by SafeChemEdu are educational resources only.

They do not constitute:

- Formal audits
- Regulatory inspections
- Certification audits
- Compliance determinations
- Professional audit opinions

Only appropriately qualified professionals can provide formal audit or compliance opinions.

8. Legislative and Regulatory Changes

Laws, regulations, standards, codes of practice, and industry requirements may change without notice.

While SafeChemEdu seeks to maintain current information, no guarantee is provided that all materials remain current at all times.

Users are responsible for verifying current requirements within their jurisdiction.

9. Third-Party Information

SafeChemEdu materials may refer to legislation, standards, guidance documents, websites, publications, regulators, manufacturers, or other third-party information sources.

SafeChemEdu does not control or guarantee the accuracy, completeness, availability, or currency of third-party information.

Users should independently verify all external references.

10. Medical and Exposure Information

Information relating to chemical exposure, toxicology, health effects, occupational exposure limits, personal protective equipment, and health monitoring is provided for educational purposes only.

SafeChemEdu does not provide medical advice.

Users should seek advice from appropriately qualified medical practitioners, occupational hygienists, toxicologists, or other specialists where required.

11. No Employment or Competency Guarantee

Completion of SafeChemEdu training does not guarantee:

- Employment
- Promotion
- Professional registration
- Competency certification
- Licensing approval
- Recognition by employers or regulators

Employers and regulatory authorities determine competency requirements independently.

12. Limitation of Liability

To the maximum extent permitted by law, SafeChemEdu excludes all liability for any loss, damage, injury, cost, expense, penalty, claim, or liability arising directly or indirectly from:

- Use of SafeChemEdu materials
- Reliance on course content
- Reliance on templates or implementation tools
- Compliance decisions
- Workplace decisions
- Regulatory outcomes

- Audit outcomes
- Environmental incidents
- Workplace incidents
- Chemical incidents
- Business decisions
- Loss of data
- Business interruption
- Economic loss
- Consequential loss

whether arising in contract, tort, negligence, statute, equity, or otherwise.

13. Maximum Liability

Where liability cannot be excluded by law, SafeChemEdu's total liability shall be limited to the amount paid by the purchaser for the specific product or service giving rise to the claim.

14. Indemnity

Users agree to indemnify and hold harmless SafeChemEdu, its directors, officers, contractors, authors, facilitators, and representatives from and against any claims, actions, losses, liabilities, damages, costs, or expenses arising from:

- Misuse of SafeChemEdu materials
 - Workplace implementation decisions
 - Regulatory actions
 - Breach of applicable laws
 - Breach of licence conditions
 - Unauthorised distribution of materials

15. Acceptance of Risk

By using SafeChemEdu materials, users acknowledge that workplace chemical management, environmental management, health and safety management, auditing, and compliance activities involve risks that cannot be eliminated by training alone.

Users accept responsibility for all decisions made using information obtained from SafeChemEdu resources.

16. Governing Law

- This Disclaimer & Limitation of Liability is governed by the laws of Queensland, Australia.
 - Any dispute arising from use of SafeChemEdu materials shall be subject to the jurisdiction of the courts of Queensland, Australia.
